Monte Pratone In Italy Taken By Fifth Army

ALLIED FORCES CAPTURE DOMINATING HEIGHTS IN GOTHIC LINE BATTLE

VICTORIES WON IN HARD FIGHTING

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Sept. 19.—The Allied Fifth Army in Italy, battering its way forward into the Gothic line against determined German opposition, captured the key hill feature of Monte Pratone, 20 airline miles northeast of the city of Florence, headquarters of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson announced today.

Heavy fighting of extreme intensity raged on both the central and Adriatic sectors of the transpeninsular battleline as the Nazis fought back grimly.

The capture of Monte Pratone by American Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army, with Brazilian troops playing an important role in the fighting, was described as a "great success," headquarters as a "great success."

The fall of the height came as a climax to a day of hard fighting.

Gain Dominating Heights

Along with 3,000-foot Monte Pratone, the Fifth Army forces also gained control of two other dominating heights well within the German Gothic line defensive system. These included Monte Altuzzo and Monte Celli.

The battle for these three features equalled and sometimes surpassed the bitterness of any previous actions in the entire Italian campaign.

The rugged mountain masses, along with the determined resistance of veteran German troops fighting from dug-in positions on

PA NEWC Observes

Bags of milkweed pods can be seen hanging to fence posts on many farms in the county. Pa. Newc is told. They are left out to dry, before being turned in for use in the war effort campaign. Pa. Newc is told.

Small streams in the county are again at a low stage, according to reports made to Pa. Newc. Some good heavy rains are needed to bring them to normal stages.

Hunting season is again approaching! Increasing numbers of "No Trespassing" signs are making their appearance throughout the county. Pa. Newc is informed.

Work is going on apace with the resurfacing of East Washington street, from Butler avenue to Croton avenue. Most of the left one-third of the street from Butler avenue, was completed Monday. A couple of very heavy rollers passing and repaving over the surface left the appearance of a good job. No parking signs lined the right side of the street. Traffic moved in good shape.

Some bicycle riding by youths in this city is rather baffling to understand. Pa. Newc was told today of a boy on a bicycle who was riding east on Washington street at the public square. Instead of going around to the south of the diamond as traffic goes he rode around to the north weaving in and out among autos in traffic going west in this one way traffic route.

Gen. MacArthur To Lead Yanks Back Into Philippines

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

Most significant news of the war today is the announcement by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz to the American Legion at Chicago that Gen. Douglas MacArthur will command the American invasion of the Philippines, great decisive step of the near future in our war with Japan. According to Admiral Nimitz, the Navy's job in the Philippine invasion will be to protect MacArthur's sea communications and support his campaign.

Admiral Nimitz's statement is important because it furnishes the first definite and positive announcement of what the strategy of our Pacific war in its semi-final stage is to be. It also sets at rest reports in wide circulation of late to the effect that an over-all commander was to be appointed for the United Nations war in the Pacific.

To Follow Islands

With Admiral Nimitz's announcement that MacArthur is to command the campaign for the reconquest of the Philippines, it becomes evident that the main American strategy is to follow the line of large islands that extends in a closely spaced chain from Australia's northern coast via New Guinea, Halmahera, Celebes and the southern Philippine Islands, more than 2,000

Bombers Hit Jap Airfields At Halmahera

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HQ, New Guinea, Sept. 19.—Carrier-based aircraft assaults against Jap airfields at Halmahera to neutralize enemy strength nearest invaded Morotai island in the Halmahera group were reported today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Thirteen Jap barges were wrecked as U. S. planes lashed the shores of Wasie Bay, and blistering attacks against air installations destroyed or damaged many grounded Jap planes.

Crippled enemy air power attempted two ineffective night bombing raids on American invasion forces at Morotai. One Jap dive-bomber was shot down by Yank ground fire.

Range Over Wide Area

Far ranging units of Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney's far eastern air forces continued their relentless attacks on Jap aerial strength in the lower Moluccas and the Celebes, with huge Liberator bombers hammering Kendari in the Celebes with 146 tons of high explosives in two successive raids.

Enemy repair shops were battered in the attacks and the Jap airbase at Ambessa was heavily damaged by bombs and strafing.

The raids destroyed many Jap planes on the ground, and two of eight fighters attempting interception were shot from the sky.

Medium bombers smashed harbor installations at Gorontalo, southwest of Menado, and night air patrols battered Menado and sank an 8,000-ton enemy freighter-transport at Kendari.

On Timor medium bombers hit Dilli township while heavy patrol bombers lashed at Ladem township and the Cape Chester airstrip.

On Dutch New Guinea, New Ireland, New Britain and Bougainville, American planes harried Jap installations and light naval units joined in the attacks shelling Jap positions on New Ireland and Bougainville.

Report Sumatra Is Bomb Target

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(INS)—The Tokyo radio reported today that American warplanes attacked three separate areas of the empire's outlying bases yesterday, hitting at Palau, the Philippines and Sumatra.

As heard by the FCC, the announcer asserted that 40 carrier-based planes bombed a Japanese base in northern Sumatra, where two of the raiders allegedly were shot down by rifle fire.

A force of 90 carrier-based planes were said to have hit at Davao on the island of Mindanao while 90 craft struck Koror Island in the Palau group north of invaded Peleliu and Angaur islands.

BRAKEMAN KILLED

CASTLE ROCK, Wash., Sept. 19.—(INS)—Sideswiped by a Northern Pacific local engine, a Great Northern express freight train today tore up a double track at Castle Rock, Wash., killing one person, injuring three others and possibly delaying Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's special train to Portland by many hours.

A. R. Hanson of Kirkland, Wash., brakeman, was killed in the crash.

Counter-Attacks By German Troops Are Hurdled Back

MOSCOW Reports Nazis Suffer Heavy Losses In Attacks In Latvia

GERMAN BOMBERS SEEKING TO AID

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Sept. 19.—Desperate German counter-attacks against Russian positions before Jelgava, Latvia, 25 miles southwest of Riga, were hurled back today with heavy Nazi losses.

Nazi troops battling furiously to seize the town of Jelgava and re-establish adequate communications between beleaguered German units in the Baltic states and the Reich lost over 600 officers and men in the fruitless attacks and sacrificed 54 tanks to Soviet gunfire and minefields.

Violent Fighting

An official German communique reported that extremely violent fighting raged in Latvia and Estonia, claiming that a Soviet attack in the area of Tartu, west of Lake Peipsi in Estonia, had been "intercepted" after severe fighting.

German bombers were reported by the Nazi communique to be playing an important role in the "defensive fighting" in the Baltic region by making heavy night attacks on Soviet troop concentrations.

Far to the south, Russian forces driving in the Carpathian foothills west of Krakow smashed back stubbornly resisting Nazis south and southeast of Sanok to capture the district center town of Ustrzyki Doine.

In stiff fighting for the town Russian fighters wiped out over 400 Germans in hand to hand encounters and captured several artillery batteries.

Smash Norwegian Port

The Soviet high command announced that Russian bombers of the Arctic fleet smashed at the Norwegian port of Kirkenes. The raid hit German buildings and military stores in the port, causing five distinct centers of fire and bringing on heavy ground explosions.

Aerial action along the eastern front during the day saw 23 German planes fall in dogfights and to Russian anti-aircraft fire.

Washington Roundup

(International News Service)

A complete picture of the food situation for American consumers comes from Washington today. Butcher supplies will remain "pretty tight" for the remainder of the year, while sugar and pork scarcities should correct themselves within the next six to eight weeks.

Supply figures point to twenty-three million less cases of canned vegetables for civilians in the fiscal year July 1, 1944 to June 30, 1945.

A complete explanation of the current phase of the Pacific war is also revealed today. In a speech shortened by Pearl Harbor to the American Legion national convention in Chicago, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz says American forces are carving out a base in Palau so the navy can support the anticipated campaign of Gen. MacArthur to liberate the Philippines.

With the war in Europe nearing its end, the state department is disclosed to be carrying out the task of raising diplomatic blood hounds for the man hunt of Hitler and his gang. By every device in the diplomatic manual, including threat of economic boycott, the department is putting pressure on all neutral countries which become a haven for the fleeing Nazis.

In congress, house and senate conferees are now expected to finally agree on the George reconviction bill and the upper chamber most likely will approve a conference report on the surplus property measure clearing the way for a pre-election recess beginning late this week.

A survey shows WPB is releasing beauty aids, thus assuring American boys they will return to the girls of their dreams and not incipient "Gravel Gerties."

"This policy of delay, delay and more delay," he said, "serves only the New Deal and its political ends. It puts the leaders of labor on the spot. It makes them come hat-in-hand to the White House. It makes political loyalty the test of a man getting his rights."

EAST-WEST IN 325 MILE SPRINT FOR BERLIN

The race for Berlin now finds the Allies in the West and Russian forces in the East each virtually 325 miles from the war's great goal. In the West the Yanks press through the Aachen area toward Cologne and in the East, Warsaw is encircled. It's anybody's guess who will be first in Berlin.

Bakery Driver Tells Of Visit To Wilson Farm

SAYS HE SAW MORELL AND MRS. HELEN WILSON ALIVE NEAR 11:30—CARRIED NO WATCH

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 19.—(INS)—Testimony to the effect that Mrs. Helen Wilson, one of three persons slain on the Everitt Wilson dairy farm last October 7, was still alive between 11:20 and 11:30 the morning of the triple tragedy was read into the Mercer court records today by defense counsel.

The testimony was in the form of a deposition taken from Howard C. Stamp, a bakery driver, who claimed he saw and talked to both William A. Morell, the prosecution's star witness, and Mrs. Helen Wilson.

Bremerhaven Is Heavily Bombed

LONDON Reports More Robot Bombs Strike Britain During Night

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Allied aerial armadas, taking to the skies at dawn, swept out over the southeast coast of England today and headed out toward the continent in all directions after British night bombers blasted the German port of Bremerhaven and Berlin.

Bremerhaven was hammered by big Lancaster bombers of the R. A. F. while block-buster laden Mosquitos hit Berlin.

The Air Ministry announced that in the Bremerhaven attack the Lancasters dropped more than 420,000 incendiaries on the port in a period of 20 minutes—some 21,000 incendiaries every minute.

"By the end of the attack, crews reported that the fires appeared to be completely out of control," it was said.

The southern counties of England, including London, were battered during the hours of darkness by more Nazi flying bombs. Damage and casualties resulted.

The robot action caused an alert to be sounded in London during the night.

School Board To Meet Tonight In Special Session

Whether or not the New Castle School Board will conduct a survey of the physical properties, curriculum and educational forces of the public schools will be decided tonight when a special meeting of the board will be held at 8 o'clock. The issue was revived Wednesday night, September 13, when the board reconsidered its August rejection of the proposal and then laid the matter on the table for consideration tonight.

Congress Recess May Be Started Late This Week

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Congressional leaders say the way cleared today for a pre-election recess beginning late this week following a "close squeak" vote on surplus property legislation which almost wrecked plans for an early exodus.

The threat to the recess came on a motion to recommend the compromise conference report setting up a three-man board for disposal of surplus war property. A roll call vote of 169 to 150 sent the motion down to defeat.

British Second Army And U. S. Airborne Army Join In Holland

SOME FIGHTING IN EINDHOVEN AS YET

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sept. 19.—Battle-front dispatches today reported Allied capture of Eindhoven, great electrical manufacturing city in north Brabant.

The Allied campaign to liberate Holland and outflank the northern end of the Siegfried line moved swiftly forward, with airborne reinforcements landed steadily to strengthen both the First Airborne Army and the British Second Army, which took Eindhoven after linking up with the parachute and glider forces.

Front-line messages said the British also had taken Geldrop, 7 miles east of Eindhoven, while another bridgehead was established over the Escaut (Scheldt) canal at Lille St. Hubert, two miles east of Neerpelt.

Nazi Fanatics Spurt To Death

Try To Charge Yank Machine Guns In Fanatical Bayonet Charge

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY ON THE MOSELLE, Sept. 19.—(Delayed)—American machine-guns southeast of Nancy moved down the Germans today when a detachment of young fanatics staged a rare charge with bayonets fixed.

They came out of the woods on the double in the fashion of old-time warfare, yelling for Hitler and the fatherland.

Race To Death

Eyes agleam beneath their helmets, they spurted forward shouting crazily and dropped dead in their tracks as American machine-gun bullets cut them down in waves. Some of the fanatics were virtually out of their minds and had been deluded by their officers into thinking they had been chosen personally by Adolf Hitler to turn the tide of battle.

Resistance Stiffens

German resistance also stiffened on the remainder of the Moselle front including the Siegfried line area, with bad weather helping the Germans considerably.

Nevertheless, French and American armored units punched somewhat deeper inland and gained some miles below Nancy. Advance troops now are 15 miles northeast of Charnes, while Metz is being enveloped gradually.

Counter-attacks were beaten back below Metz, but intensive enemy artillery fire continues.

And what is so rare as a day in June so the poem says, I remember, but what I ask is the matter with these golden bright days of September? When the apples are red and the spinach is green and the pumpkins are turning yellow, and the lilies are ripe in their home in the ground, and the cider is sharp and mellow. Oh, these are the days when the harvest is in and the summer's work has been run, and these are as rare as a day in June and the weather is eighty-one.

Dozen German Villages Fall To American Forces

Yanks Take Towns In 12-Mile Deep Sector Of Siegfried Line, Huss Reports

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN FORCES North of Trier, Sept. 19.—A dozen German villages, some ruined and others fairly intact, were in American hands Monday in this sector twelve miles deep blasted into the Siegfried line.

Here in this area beyond the Germans' vaulted wall, Nazi forces made a big bid to halt the American advance.

They came on with 32 Tiger tanks preceded by artillery bursts, precipitating a hot but futile battle.

In the space of a few hours before rain bogged down further action, our guns knocked out fourteen German tanks and stopped dead every enemy effort to regain a foothold within the Siegfried line.

One of our infantry units holding the slope of a hill a mile beyond the last Siegfried pillbox withdrew, however, to a better position a few hundred yards to the rear.

Mud And Mist

Mud and mist are slowing down all operations but American engineers assigned to the breakthrough sector have in the last two days virtually blown apart the Siegfried line, effectively wrecking what it took Adolf Hitler years to build.

It must have been a painful surprise to small German parties ordered to sneak back into their pillboxes under cover of night to find nothing except four broken walls and jagged pieces of six-foot thick concrete and steel where a roof had been before.

A group of Yank engineers encountered as they were busy rigging up 300 pounds of TNT while under shellfire had this to say:

"Shucks. Back home we'd consider this kind of construction second-rate stuff."

But from a strategic standpoint, these fortifications were excellent for enfilading purposes.

miles to Luzon, key to the bottleneck of sea transportation, through which Japan receives the petroleum, rubber, iron ore and other strategic raw materials that render it possible for her to fight.

Virtue of the MacArthur plan is that along the route it maps out for advancing American forces lies plenty of land-room for dispersion.

No other approach to the Philippines or Japan affords big enough islands, close enough together to afford the space for dispersion required for the safety and comfort of a huge tri-tributary striking force in the war of today.

To Battle Way Ahead

Obvious operation of the immediate future, under the MacArthur plan, is the re-conquest of Mindanao, the southernmost big island of the Philippine group. After that, American forces must fight their way more than 1,000 miles north along the Philippine island chain to Luzon.

To conquer all these will take time. Even when allied forces in Europe are released by the end of the war with Germany, it will not be possible to speed up the Pacific war immediately to any great extent, because our bases in that theater can only accommodate the forces already at hand, and vast works of construction and transportation will be necessary before room can be made for more fighting men, ships and planes.

In the war against Japan we are fighting two foes, the Japanese and distance. We have got the Japanese licked, but the distance is still there.

the weekend revealed that Red army men had destroyed 134 German tanks while anti-aircraft batteries and fighter planes brought down 62 Nazi planes.

Today's bitter fighting in the Sankt regor of southern Poland resulted in Russian occupation of 30 towns and villages in addition to the capture of the district center of Ustrzyki-Dolne.

Massed German tanks and covering fire from natural defense positions on high ground strove to check the Russian advance. Red army battalions, closing to hand grips with stubborn Nazi defenders, drove the Germans from their favorable positions, while Russian artillery smashed Nazi tank formations.

The Ordnance department, Army Service Forces, today provides a motor vehicle for every nine men, compared with one for every 90 men in World War I.

within another six days, and the less heavily defended Angaur may be won in even less time.

Fleet headquarters disclosed that the Marines were still encountering heavy enemy resistance on Peleliu but captured Asia, main population center of the island, and the battle in the southern sector has reached the mopping-up stage.

Repulse Jap Attacks

The fighting Marine repulsed another Jap counter-attack on Peleliu Saturday night, headquarters disclosed, and have now clawed their way to the razor-backed top of the island, routing Japs from their lofty observation posts.

Two enemy planes bombed Seabees working on Peleliu's prized airstrip but no casualties were reported. This huge airfield constitutes perhaps the greatest threat to the Japs' stolen Pacific empire and will play an important part in support of General Douglas MacArthur's anticipated move to the Philippines.

Huge American naval forces in Palau waters can be counted on to support further invasions of the island chain until the entire group is in the hands of United States forces.

Throughout the night, artillery roared on the perimeter of this "air-borne" island as the Nazis lobbed shells at a river crossing without which the British armored push through Holland would be seriously delayed.

The paratroopers were reinforced yesterday by hundreds of gliders carrying artillery, and supplies were dropped from Liberator bombers.

Today the troops are eliminating German artillery resistance and paving a path for the armored thrust. Suicidal German gunners are sticking to their 88mm guns and mortars until the Americans are within pistol range.

This policy is proving fatal. The 88's are "suckers" for bazookas.

of justice, prevails in this labor field in this country and I am against that kind of administration and always will be."

The Republican nominee singled out Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins as a special target, describing her as an "estimable lady" who, for 12 years of "New Deal bungling," has been secretary of labor "in name only."

Smothered By Agencies

Gov. Dewey said labor is smothered under a welter of agencies upon agencies, with the nation "yanked from crisis to crisis."

The Seattle speech was designed, not to align business and agriculture against labor, but to provoke the ire of the more conservative elements among the workers against radical labor leaders and the Roosevelt administration.

Republican leaders predicted the talk will split the labor vote in such key states as California, Washington, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, New Jersey and Massachusetts, where they have detected differences of opinion between the statements of the CIO and of the AFL.

Study of the Dewey speech reveals that it went far beyond exhortation for its handling of the labor problems. It presented a definite Republican labor policy, sprinkled with "no trespassing" signs for both those who would make labor the tool of letting extremists and those who would strip labor of most of the rights it has.

No Turning Clock Back

His warning to those who look to a Republican national administration to "turn back the clock" for labor was couched in these words: "There are those who would turn back the course of collective bargaining they are doomed to bitter disappointment. We are not going back to anything, not to bread lines, not to leaf raking, not to gun fire and labor disputes with gun fire and labor disputes, not to wholesale farm foreclosures, not to another New Deal depression with ten million unemployed."

The Republican nominee also warned communists and racketeers that there is no place for them in the GOP labor program.

Gov. Dewey summarized what he as president, proposes to do for labor. He promised:

Labor Program

1.—Government by law, with appointment of a secretary of labor from the ranks of labor.

2.—Restoration of the functions of the labor department to that department, with workers not required to "sit in waiting room after waiting room to find out what are their rights."

3.—Abolition of "wasteful competing bureaus filled with men quarreling for jurisdiction while American citizens stand and wait," and centralization of their powers and duties in the labor department.

4.—Establishment of the fair employment practice committee as a permanent function authorized by law.

5.—Abolition of "privilege for one group over any other group" with "no back door entrances to special privilege by one group over any other group of Americans."

6.—Equality among business, labor and agriculture; free collective bargaining; full employment at high wages, and protection of the individual against the hazards of old age.

mountain crests and concrete pillboxes, constituted formidable obstacles.

The Eighth Army inched its way forward in the face of stiff opposition between the Adriatic coast and the southern frontier of the tiny republic of San Marino.

Greek Troops Advance

Greek troops reached the northern edge of the Rimini airfield where they found Panther tank turrets dug in by the Germans in the same manner as the enemy placed these defenses in the Gothic line.

Planes of the Desert Air Force carried out accurate pinpoint attacks, sometimes only 400 or 500 yards ahead of the Allied troops, and neutralized these strongpoints.

The Eighth's bridgehead across the Marengo river was further expanded and the villages of Cerasolo and Faenza captured.

Canadian troops entering the bitter battle from the east coast city of Rimini advanced to the Ausa river, three miles southwest of Rimini. German tanks and infantry put up a bitter defensive battle for the river line.

Exceptionally stiff fighting continued in the battle for San Marino in the Monte Labate vicinity, with the defending Germans desperately employing tanks and mortars. The Nazis counter-attacked in the Legrotte area, using reinforcements which, according to one prisoner, were sent down through neutral San Marino.

Air force headquarters said that Mediterranean-based craft attacked railway yards and bridges in both northeastern Yugoslavia and central Hungary. In all more than 2,000 sorties were flown and 11 Allied planes were reported missing.

warned the American people that over-optimism is the greatest danger; that long, hard fighting lies ahead.

In a short-wave broadcast to Commander Warren H. Atherton's banquet, Admiral Nimitz described the fighting at the Palau Islands, where the Marines are taking over the major barrier to the Philippines.

He said:

"These islands lie across our advance to the Philippines from the east. In tackling them now, we seek to cut the Japanese defensive line. If we succeed—and we do not intend to fail—we shall have achieved three important purposes.

Three Purposes

"First, we shall have isolated the Japanese in the Caroline Islands, and their once important base of Truk will be next to useless."

"A second result is the placement of American forces in an improved position from which to strangle communications between Japan proper and Japan's conquered territories."

"And finally, when Palau falls, a formidable obstacle to our eventual return to the Philippines is swept away, and we will have a base from which to cover General MacArthur's Philippines campaign."

General Arnold spoke in similar vein of the operations in Europe, but warned that after victory is won the United States must forever remain "first in the air" and retain control of air bases far beyond its shores with "no strings tied to them."

Earlier, Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, had told the 1,780 convention delegates that more than 60 divisions of Yank ground forces had reached the battlefronts.

Boost Our Own System

Government has grown to be such a giant in this country and has so many millions of persons on its payroll that it is the biggest problem business and industry are going to have to contend with in the so-called readjustment period.

Already there is an army of economic planners at work to keep the check rein of government on every private activity. This will be done under the guise of preventing inflation, and creating employment. Business and industry will have to figure out ways to operate and exist and employ labor and pay taxes, in spite of all the plans that all the planners can heap upon them.

Few of the planners are sincerely outspoken in their desire to restrict government competition or domination of business, and encourage the individual to go out and try to create the postwar jobs and production which they talk about.

Most of the planners, by innuendo or plain threats, say that if business doesn't maintain record employment, government will. And many of them seem to be hopeful that they can lay enough stumbling blocks in the way of private enterprise so that they will have an excuse for saying that government must take over.

Imagine the spirit of optimism that would prevail in this nation if business and industry felt that our government and the powerful bureaus that now dominate it, were wholeheartedly in favor of promoting private enterprise under fair and reasonable regulation. If risk capital was encouraged to take a chance, it is safe to say that our natural resource industries would experience new growth after the war, as the world is going to want the products of our mines, farms and forests in unheard of quantities, in exchange for the goods that they must sell to us. Why not uphold the American system for Americans, instead of aping in so many ways the socialized system of Europe, where some bureaucrat throttles the opportunity of the individual? It is time the people of this country began to work to save our own American system, instead of adopting alien philosophies.

For Christmas Overseas

Now is the time to get busy sending Christmas gifts to those in the service overseas. Officially fixed mailing dates continue until October 15, but it would not be wise to wait until that date to get around to overseas Christmas remembrances. That day probably will be as busy in the shops and in the post offices as the prewar day before Christmas.

The Post Office department offers some timely advice on overseas Yule gifts.

They should be packed in metal, wood, solid fiberboard or strong, double-faced corrugated fiberboard. Army and Navy postal services say. Strong twine around the boxes and tight packing of the contents will insure better arrival of gifts.

Protect every sharp instrument, such as a knife, or razor blades, by careful wrapping.

Label the package "Christmas parcel" and see that it weighs not more than five pounds and is not over 13 inches long.

Whatever the prospects of an early peace in Europe, Christmas still will have to be for most servicemen another Christmas away from home. Foresight should be the home-front slogan for holiday cheer overseas.

Taxing Uncle Sam

This year California, New Jersey, New York and Virginia have amended their laws to permit taxation of Federal property.

Since Federally-owned property cannot be taxed by states and their subdivisions without Federal consent, it might be asked what good such legislation can do a state.

The answer is that permission to tax Federal property does not seem so wild a dream as formerly. Enormously increased Federal holdings have brought complaints about mounting exemptions in community tax rolls, and there have been some signs that the Federal government might loosen up.

Congress has already waived tax immunities on properties controlled by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

To the extent that Congress consents to local taxation it behooves a state not to be caught with a law forbidding it.

Pennsylvania's exemption of "public property used for public purposes" seems broad enough to include all Federally owned property. The next legislature may want to consider the advisability of being ready with its own laws to tax anything Congress is willing to have taxed.

Hitler's Last Gamble

American armies, smashing ahead in Germany, have reached the Rhine. For the Germans the war is already lost. What they are doing now, in their desperate resistance, is staging a last gamble, not for victory, but to stave off Hitler's doom and to inflict the greatest possible damage on the Allies for the Prussian Junkers.

There is enough evidence in the Allies' hands now to prove that the German military caste has long been planning a third world war. Marshal von Rundstedt has been preaching this sort of propaganda at the Academy of War in Berlin and the notorious report of General Stuehnagel is in French hands.

That report called "a temporary defeat no great tragedy if we succeed in gaining a greater margin of economic or demographic superiority than we had in 1939, by piling up ruin, and destroying men and material in enemy and neighboring territory."

"If we achieve this," wrote Stuehnagel in February, 1942, "the war will have been useful, for we shall then be able to resume it on the military field under much better conditions."

This is no fantastic madman's dream. It has been the whole core of German military training. Everything in the Prussian militaristic system has called for the inculcation of the theme of German world dominance. The German officer is always planning for the successful war to come.

It is hardly so in Hitler's case. Hitler is merely playing the string out, to gain a few more days of life, perhaps to drag the war into the winter, if that is possible, in the hope that something may turn up to save his hide, regardless of the cost to Germany.

The job will not be ended with the hanging of Hitler. The Prussian militarists must be exterminated, too. And that brings to mind one of the few intelligent proposals yet made, that of former President Herbert Hoover.

That proposal was that no German who ever held a commission in any branch of the German armed services should ever hold any public office of any kind, under any conditions, and that no such officer could ever serve in any branch of the constabulary, at any time.

Poll Taking Is Now On Increase

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Public opinion sampling is fast becoming one of the nation's major industries, and it is flourishing particularly in this election year.

But this time the men who take the nation's political pulse are scared out of their wits. They realize that their chief stock in trade, which is public confidence based on accuracy of past performance, could be wiped out overnight if the voters stay away from the polls in large numbers on November 7. They remember the oblivion which descended on the "Literary Digest" when its straw ballot showed a victory for Alf Landon in 1936.

The two chief pollsters, George Gallup and Elmo Roper, admit frankly that they may be misled by the non-voters who fail to register and vote. It's easy to say you're for Roosevelt, or for Dewey, to the polite poll-taker who comes to your door. The sum total of all the answers may add up to victory for Roosevelt, as it does at this moment.

Yet if millions of Roosevelt voters don't go through the necessary process of putting down that X at the head of the Democratic ticket, Dewey will be elected and the polls will be proved wrong. That is the fear that stalks Messrs. Gallup, Roper and their imitators.

There ought to be a law to compel people to vote, say the pollsters. According to Gallup's researches in Australia they were fined for failure to go to the polls on the appointed day. Like us in Belgium a penalty is provided for failure to vote.

Gallup has a big organization. Besides research staffs here and in Princeton, N. J., he has a thousand men in the field ringing doorbells, writing down the answers and sending them into central tabulating offices.

The success he has made of poll-taking and it's a very profitable business, is largely due to his own tireless energy. Besides directing the national poll, and many other special polls—including some done on order of the Republican National Committee—Gallup has an executive position in one of the big advertising agencies.

One thing he's learned, and that is that the real way to find out what people are thinking and how they're likely to vote is to get out and push doorbells yourself. He did that for three days just prior to the recent election in Maine, concentrating on the town of Lisbon, Me.

The thing that chiefly impressed him was the apathy he found. It was like one of the fogs that roll in from the Atlantic—so thick and gray and soggy you could hardly see through it. Often Poll-taker Gallup found himself explaining who the candidates were for governor and for Congress were. The folks up in Maine didn't seem to know whether Hitler was a Republican or a Democrat, and they didn't care much.

When Gallup goes poll-taking on his own, he usually uses a name like Smith or Jones. The other day a lady who asked him his name, when she came to the door, caught him off guard and he said "Gallup."

"I suppose you're some relation to the fellow who runs it," she said. Roper does not use as large a staff as Gallup, nor does he attempt a state-by-state prediction. He concentrates himself with the over-all result for the nation and he's understandably proud of the fact that in the presidential election of 1940 and the congressional election of 1942 he was closer in his prediction to the actual result than any other poll.

To try to gauge the proportion of voters who will bother to go to the polls this year, Roper's people ask questions intended to bring out the degree of interest of the individual in the contest. "Are you very much interested in the coming election?" That kind of question, Roper, too, has found a featherbed of indifference which muffles the sounds of the campaign.

This business of poll-taking in advance is something the founding fathers couldn't have possibly foreseen. Imagine a poll-taker going to Monticello and saying to Mr. Jefferson: "Sir, I represent the Gallup Poll and I would like to ask you..." To give a lot for Jefferson's answer. Somehow, I don't think he'd take to the idea.

POSTWAR WOMAN
Some day I'm sure that she will say:
"I cannot stand the grind of gear,
I want a little garden gay,
And happy children playing near,
I want afresh the beds to make,
The silverware and glass to shine,
And there are sweets I want to bake
All in a kitchen that is mine."

Some day, and soon 'twill be I think,
She'll tire of bench and torch and gauge,
And want a white enamel sink,
And tins for savory and sage,
She'll quit the work she's learned to do

To free some man for battle grim,
And give up wearing denim blue
For frocks and ruffled aprons trim

When freedom's safe on land and sea,
And men return to peaceful trades,
At home again she'll long to be
On guard 'gainst all that life degrades.

As she was taught, she'll want to
Her children small both prayer
And creed

And conduct brave and proper
And give to them the care they'll need.

No man is so worthless that he cannot get a good man to recommend him.

A real hick town is a place where the man in the chair is a stranger if the barber uses fresh towels on him.

Wonder if boys at the front feel the old hero worship when they see news pictures of husky youths at football practice.

Of course said the man leaning against the bank it may not be a sure sign that the war in Europe is about to end, but it is significant that yesterday a filling station attendant said "Thank you, and come back again," as I handed him my gasoline coupon.—Emid, Oka, News.

PROPER FORMS OF INTRODUCTION

"Please give me instructions on how to introduce properly. When men are introduced to women and when women to men. Does the older one take precedence over the younger one, regardless of sex? For instance, should a young woman be introduced to an older man? Should a woman of lower rank be introduced to a doctor? Is it necessary to say: 'Miss Smith, this is Mr. Jones' or simply 'Miss Smith (pause) Mr. Jones? I am constantly confused on many of these points.'—E. N.

Answer: Men are always introduced to women with the following exceptions. When the man presented is the President of the United States, a reigning monarch or a high dignitary of the church, all of which rarely happen to the ordinary individual. It is not correct to introduce a woman to a priest or to a minister.

A doctor, college professor, senator or even an ambassador should be introduced to a woman. Even an elderly man should be introduced to a young girl.

When two women or two men are introduced, the younger is presented to the older. If they are similar in age, the least in importance might be presented to the most important, although this does not make a great deal of difference, unless one is many years older.

The brief form of introduction: "Mrs. Smith (pause) Mr. Jones" is entirely proper and more commonly used than "Mrs. Smith, this is Mr. Jones," although both are equally correct. The word "meet" is always omitted. "May I present" is used on formal occasions, but rarely otherwise.

Question: My fiancée has purchased a new home for us (we will be married soon). It is completely furnished with the exception of cooking utensils and linens. Should I remind him of those or should I supply them?—Sue.

Mr. Roosevelt To Handle It

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—IT is interesting to note that the fourth-term spokesmen who a short time ago were treating the Dewey chances of defeating Mr. Roosevelt as negligible have considerably changed their tune and are beginning to say that this is a very close election—very close, indeed. From some administration sources a note of actual alarm has been sounded.

FOR THIS alteration in attitude several things are responsible. One is that the most recent polls of two national magazines have shown a notable increase of Dewey strength in the indispensable States, and a corresponding shrinkage of Roosevelt strength. Another is the extraordinary vote by which the Republicans won in Maine. Both these things are calculated somewhat to dilute the confidence of the fourth-termers, and, certainly, those 3-to-1 betting odds of which so much was heard early in August appear to have disappeared. At least they are not being offered in real money—if they ever were.

BUT THE administration strategists have a deeper worry than any of these. Within the past few days they have become really convinced that Mr. Hillman, with his CIO-PAC and his Communist support, has developed much more into a genuine liability than an asset. And they do not know exactly what to do about it. It has shocked them how quickly the country seized hold of that trenchant phrase—"Clear everything with Sidney"—and how general is the disbelief of Mr. Hillman's passionate denial that he was ever thus instructed by Mr. Roosevelt. The reason for the disbelief, of course, is that it was made so completely plain at the convention that everything was being "Cleared with Sidney."

TO MEET this situation the fourth-term publicity agents have again concentrated upon assertions that it is "all nonsense" to consider Mr. Hillman as an agent, that he really is a perfectly delightful gentleman and a very unselfish patriot. The mere idea that he is trying to capture the Democratic party and make himself a national political boss would be funny, for they think if it were not so serious. Actually it is contended, this notion that Mr. Hillman and the forces he represents are sinister is just a nightmare—which the opposition is using to scare silly people. Moreover, those who keep "harping" on this subject are very tiresome. They bore their readers and ought to get on something new.

POSSIBLY SO, but that risk seems worth taking if the full facts about this Roosevelt-Hillman alliance can be made known enough for the people to understand and accept. And that seems precisely what is happening. Apparently the idea is rapidly percolating into the popular mind that the link between the President of the United States and this radical labor leader with his Russian background and the Communist affiliations and high-pressure methods is thoroughly unwholesome and deeply repugnant to the instincts of the average American man and woman. People are beginning really to gag over it, and the reason for the present perturbation in the higher fourth-term circles is because they realize it.

FROM THE start, they have been on the defensive about Mr. Hillman. They have no real defense and they cannot make the white-wash stick. No wonder, then, they think it boring to keep "harping" on Hillman. No wonder Mr. Hannegan denounced the "Clear everything with Sidney" instruction. But it will take more than a Hannegan denial and more than repetition after the Hillman "nightmare" to straighten out the trouble—and the sharper fourth-term managers know it. The feeling among them is that this situation is so serious that Mr. Roosevelt himself will have to deal with it.

IT is reported that he will do so in his speech (concededly a political one) next Saturday before the AFL union in Washington. There he is expected to ridicule the idea that Mr. Hillman and the CIO's link with him is closer than any other, and dwell heavily on the "absurdity" of trying to scare little children with tales of the journalistic brigade calls "the Hillman myth."

He may go so far as to disavow wholly his partnership with Mr. Hillman—and, of course, easily could get cooperation from Mr. Hillman, who is expected to be present, to accept a disavowal, or anything else, on the ground that it is all for "the cause."

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hillman understand each other well enough for that. At any rate, the Roosevelt literary aides who help prepare the President's speeches are said to be giving the question of how Mr. Roosevelt should handle this Hillman problem their most profound consideration. They are saying that something has got to be done about it, and that the efforts of the publicity boys so far have proven inadequate and ineffectual. The view is that no one except Mr. Roosevelt can really ally a resentment which threatens to become really formidable. Perhaps, he can do it, and there is reason to think he will try. But it will not be an easy job.

Washington Report

Dittmar's Peace Feeler May Bring Others
Compromise Peace May Be Sought By Nazis
Japs Improve Planes But Lack Pilots Now

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar's intimation that Germany will accept compromise peace terms are expected to be followed by other peace feelers as the Allied soldiers start breathing hotter down Hitler's neck.

But, like the German propagandists' left-handed request for a compromise, all Nazi peace feelers will be rejected until the Germans accept unconditional surrender.

The position of the Allies was made clear to Germany by Secretary of State Cordell Hull who said the Nazis must give in completely. He was backed up by both Democrats and Republicans in Congress on this issue.

Officials in Washington not given to rash predictions now expect Germany to collapse within the next 90 days if not sooner. They believe, however, that the German fold-up will come through decisive defeat on the battlefield—not through surrender of the country.

Business Leaders Relieved

Remarkable allied military progress has relieved American business leaders who have been viewing the unprecedented cost of modern war with considerable concern.

They say that the estimated cost of the war will enable a free enterprise economy to pick up and carry on—provided that taxes and expenditures of the government are placed on a sound economic and business basis, free of detraction, pork barrelism, novel experimentation and vote-enticing spending sprees.

This business leaders declare, will mean that the federal budget will have to become absolutely businesslike within the narrowest limits that post-war conditions will permit. A budget of from 23 to 25 billions is realistically anticipated. This will preclude, they say, how extravagant on WPA-ism and grants to war workers and veterans.

Although Japan has been improving her fighting planes for the all-out aerial battle for the Philippines, China and the Japanese homeland there is no indication that she has improved the quality of her flyers.

Navy Secretary James Forrestal told newsmen recently that our naval aviators face tough going because Japan has been able to add speed, maneuverability and fire power to carrier and land-based planes.

Once Had Superiority

Earlier in the war, however, Japan had both numerical superiority and speedier planes than American pilot. Despite this advantage the Japanese were outwitted and outfoiled everywhere by well-trained, smart American pilots.

The biggest handicap of the Japanese high command is that Nipponese youths are less mechanically minded than American boys. United States flyers are also given better basic schooling and training when they are accepted for pilot candidates.

Most American flyers who have fought the Japs believe that Jap pilots are brave but stupid.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's campaign plans call for a thorough lambasting of Sen. Harry S. Truman's record as a part of the Pennington machine.

There is a general feeling in party councils that blows at Truman will come in retaliation for the Democratic tactic in smearing the Republicans as "pre-war isolationists," however.

As soon as the cries of "isolationism" and "vested interest" become loud enough the Republicans will let go. They may do so before then.

In any case inside reports indicate that Truman will be broken by Dewey's running mate, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio. At best Truman will be depicted as the "creature" of a corrupt machine. There will be no attempt to link him with the deals of the big boss from Kansas City.

IT is reported that he will do so in his speech (concededly a political one) next Saturday before the AFL union in Washington. There he is expected to ridicule the idea that Mr. Hillman and the CIO's link with him is closer than any other, and dwell heavily on the "absurdity" of trying to scare little children with tales of the journalistic brigade calls "the Hillman myth."

He may go so far as to disavow wholly his partnership

WHO CARES ABOUT WASTE PAPER?

"I DO," says GI Joe

"Cause I know how much is needed to keep me going... they say it takes 81 tons of supplies a month to keep me fighting. That job takes mountains of paper. FBI Man Speaks On Accomplishments Of Federal Bureau

Work Done On Breaking Up Espionage Rings Is Related By Albert G. McDonald

What the FBI has done toward combatting espionage in the United States was related in an entertaining manner by Albert G. McDonald, of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, when he addressed the members of the New Castle Rotary Club at their luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Monday noon.

Mr. McDonald stated that up to 1934, the FBI was merely an investigative body, and turned over all the information they secured on cases to the United States District Attorney for prosecution.

Then, with the spread of gangsterism in this country, the bureau was given authority to make arrests, searches, and to carry firearms. Thus the day of the public enemies started to decline.

On September 6, 1939, President Roosevelt issued an order, directing all law enforcement agencies to furnish the FBI with information on all subversive activities. They thus became the agency to combat this particular form of enemy activity.

He told about the part the FBI played in rounding up the Fritz Duquesne gang, directed by a spy who had been active in this country back in the days of World War One, and who renewed his activities prior to our entry into the war. He told how the FBI had also captured the eight saboteurs, and of the arrest of Ernest Fritz Weymss, another clever German agent.

He stated that those in the service of the FBI feel proud of their record and believe they have done a good job. The FBI, he stated, depends on the public to put them on the trail of these enemy agents, by furnishing them with the information to start on, and urged his hearers to report any unusual activities to them.

Sheriff M. M. Ingham and Chief of Police Archie Shoup, of Bessemer were special guests of the club.

Nearly One Million Tons Of Bombs On Enemies, Says Arnold

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—(INS)—The load of bombs dropped by American air forces on the Germans and Japanese will soon total 1,000,000 tons, Gen. Henry H. Arnold told the American Legion today.

The chief of the army air forces spoke to the Legion's national convention after receiving the veterans' Distinguished Service medal.

He praised the Legion for its work in behalf of Yanks now fighting around the world, and added: "Our fourteen air forces scattered around the world will echo their appreciation when they drop their one millionth ton of bombs on the Japs and Germans a few days hence."

The blood contains about 11,000 white corpuscles per cubic centimeter.

CRIMINAL COURT

September criminal court started Monday morning with both rooms operating. Like the last five or six terms of court the session has about as much color as a section of faded wall paper. What few cases will be tried are little more than glorified aldermanic cases.

The first case called was that against Norman Blinn in court room No. 1 before Judge W. Walter Braham. Mr. Blinn is charged with the larceny of Clarence Okaly's automobile in Ellwood City on June 22.

In court room No. 2 the case against Milo Adam Stork, charged with driving while intoxicated, failure to stop and refusal to disclose identity was called before Judge John G. Lamoree. He is charged with having driven a car on August 10 while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, to have collided with the car of Joseph S. Civilian Defense Will Be Prepared For Emergencies

HARRISBURG, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's civilian defense system was under orders today from Gov. Edward Martin to reorganize for action in home front emergencies and to cooperate with the emergency disaster committee.

The 10-member committee, formerly known as the flood emergency committee, is headed by Secretary of Forests and Waters James A. Kell. The membership was not changed.

"Until the war is over," Governor Martin said, "the danger of sabotage and civil disturbances confronts us. We are also confronted with disasters such as fires, wrecks, floods and tornadoes."

"We are anxious that all governmental agencies and all volunteer agencies work together in complete harmony when an emergency may arise."

Annihilation Of Germany Is Near

General Eisenhower Sends Message To Legion Convention Giving Forecast

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of allied forces in Europe, told the American Legion on Monday that the annihilation of Germany "will not be long in coming."

The general's message, read to the opening session of the 26th national Legion convention, said: "I regret exceedingly that due to my constant travelling about France coordinating military operations, it is impossible for me to address your national convention by radio."

"I would appreciate it if you would extend to the delegates the warm greetings of the officers and men of my command. As we tread again the battle fields of your resounding victories of 26 years ago we are particularly sensible of the great service you men rendered humanity. I am sure that you veterans would be exceedingly proud of the way your old units your sons and, in some cases, your members have carried forward the finest traditions of the services."

"The excellent teamwork of the allied armies, navies and air forces has forced the ruthless Nazis back to their own borders. It will not be long before we will crush their vicious military machine and make this world a decent place for free men. We of the allied expeditionary force salute you, our former comrades-in-arms."

Paper Collection Shows Increase

HARRISBURG, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Record-breaking waste paper collections of 122 pounds per capita during August listed today by the State Defense Council, a 5.7 per cent increase over July.

Colley S. Baker, secretary, said Northumberland county paced the state with average collections of 184 pounds per capita.

"Pennsylvania is beginning to reach its stride in waste paper collections," he declared. "Paper continues to be a most critical war salvage need and for the last four months of this year we hope to bring Pennsylvania's collections to 65,000 tons a month."

Waste paper salvage for eight months of 1944 totaled 347,407 tons, representing 57 per cent of the state's yearly quota, he said.

'Broken Promises' Of New Deal Are Cited By Bricker

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 19.—(INS)—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, Republican vice presidential candidate, today contrasted the New Deal's "broken promises" with the G.O.P.'s "assured performance" of its platform.

In a speech prepared for delivery today in Erie, Bricker declared: "The Republican party, through the leadership of the party in Congress and through the administrations of 26 Republican governors, has re-established the G.O.P. in the confidence of the people. So the platform of the party may be accepted in full at its face value."

Then he compared the G.O.P. pledge of the speediest possible return home of members of the armed forces after victory with the New Deal's "lack of program" in that regard, pointed to the Democratic regime's 1932 promise of a 25 per cent reduction in government costs "which became a 56 increase in a year's time" and contrasted the G.O.P.'s "definite program" of post-war industrial conversion to the New Deal's attitude of looking forward "only to unemployment and measures to alleviate it."

Nazi Battleship

Tirpitz Damaged

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(INS)—The 41,000-ton German battleship Tirpitz, last capital battleship in the German navy, suffered "very heavy" damage when a six-ton bomb dropped from an American plane scored a "direct hit" last Friday, the Stockholm Tidningen said today in an article reported to the Office of War Information.

Thirty-nine crew members were killed and "fully 100" injured in the attack, according to the Stockholm newspaper, which said that the air-raid alert on the battleship had sounded too late for the ship to protect herself by a smoke screen.

Review and refresher courses also will be given in certain selected fields, particularly mathematics, chemistry, physics and English. Turtle Creek Man Confesses Crime

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19.—(INS)—A Turtle Creek man's confession that he shot and killed an acquaintance was taken with a grain of salt today—until the coroner's physician finds a bullet hole in Christian Argiros, 61.

Argiros was found on a road near Universal. When he died an hour later in a Wilkesburg hospital, a coroner's report gave the cause as a fractured skull and termed him a hit-run victim.

Pasquale D'Erico, 34, was picked up after he was heard to boast he killed Argiros. But D'Erico claims he did it with a gun, not a car.

MORE AIRBORNE ALLIED TROOPS BEING LANDED

borne troops now have linked up in force in the area of Wehl, north of Eindhoven. Other strong airborne forces landed at Nijmegen and Arnhem during the day.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters did not mandatorily confirm Eindhoven's capture.

An official headquarters spokesman said fighting still was in progress in the general area of Eindhoven which still is defended by the Germans.

The French radio at Brazzaville, French equatorial Africa, said in a broadcast that Eindhoven had fallen to the Allies.

The sweeps through Holland were intensified after the British Second Army formed a junction with the airborne army in a spectacular 16-mile advance.

Troop reinforcements and supplies were sent in by air from constant stream of transports and glider planes as the Allied forces already on the ground consolidated and strengthened positions.

American forces in the Siegfried line defenses and at the approaches to Germany on other sectors battered their way forward from the vicinity of Aachen southward along the Luxembourg-German frontier against increasingly stiff Nazi resistance.

In the drive toward the northern end of the Siegfried Line, a correspondent of the BBC in Brussels reported, British troops captured Eindhoven, a city of 24,000 persons, and drove beyond while other Allied units mounted a threat to Amsterdam and Rotterdam.

Heavy Fighting

Front dispatches indicated that heavy fighting was in progress around the perimeters of all positions seized by the Allied forces in Holland as more and more British and other United Nations troops crossed into the Netherlands from Belgium and dropped down from the skies.

In the area west of Antwerp Dutch troops now are fighting on Dutch soil and are advancing in spite of stiff opposition, headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said.

German resistance to the advance of Allied ground troops was termed stubborn in headquarters where it was disclosed that more than 70 Nazi tank boats were put out of action in attacks by fighter planes and fighter-bombers preceding further airborne operations yesterday.

The German agency DNB said that three more Allied airborne detachments had been landed in Holland and it was believed that some airborne forces had landed north of the Rhine river Delta.

(DNB said that troops which broke into Eindhoven included Americans.)

Americans Advance

Northwest of captured Maastricht units of the American First Army advanced against resistance by German infantry, artillery and dug-in tanks.

To the north, the Americans were in contact with the Siegfried Line at Simpelveld, seven miles north of Aachen.

Other American units approached the Siegfried Line from positions near Sittard, 13 miles northeast of Maastricht.

The First Army forces, commanded by Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, mopped up German elements east of occupied Roetgen, 10 miles below Aachen. The Yanks captured the town of Hosten.

East of St. Vith, Belgium, American forces inside Germany encountered stiffened resistance and increasing artillery fire.

Brandscheid Taken
Brandscheid was captured and the Americans advanced to Hontbeim, six miles east of the German border. (The Trier area, east of Luxembourg, a British broadcast heard by CBS said, the Americans are reported to have penetrated into the Siegfried Line to a depth of 12 and one-half miles.)

West of the Belfort Gap, troops of the Seventh Army entered Fougères. Headquarters said the enemy was strongly defending the approaches to the gap and the plateau leading into southwest Germany.

German counter-attack near Futeaux, north of the Doubs river, was repulsed.

German resistance against the entire Twelfth Army group commanded by Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley stiffened as the tempo of the battle for Germany was intensified, headquarters said.

Germans Employ More Tanks
The Germans employed an increasing number of tanks and other armor.

Counter-attacks in the areas of Prum and Coney were repulsed.

Counter-attacks along virtually all of the line were made but there were no substantial changes in the past 24 hours, the headquarters spokesman said.

American armored units moving across the Luxembourg-German frontier captured Hüttingen, and east of Maastricht reached Ubachsberg and Simpelveld against moderate resistance.

On the Brittany peninsula, the fortress wall of the great port of Brest was breached in two places. Recapture, on the outskirts, was occupied.

Junction In Holland
Canadian troops continued to battle their way through Boulogne.

In commenting on the airborne operations over Holland yesterday, the headquarters spokesman said that Allied losses included only a small fraction of the very heavy forces employed.

The airborne troops and ground forces which effected a junction after a spectacular 16-mile advance by the British Second Army also were reported threatening the Nazi-occupied Dutch cities of Amsterdam and Rotterdam.

The mounting campaign in the Netherlands was accompanied by fierce fighting in the Siegfried Line sector east of Aachen where the Germans fought back bitterly but futilely to stem the progress of the American First Army.

War Agencies To Be Curtailed

President Directs Plans Be Submitted For Peace
Time Needs

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—In a move that had the earmarks of shrewd political strategy as well as sound economy, President Roosevelt gave orders today leading to the dismantling of war agencies and the reconversion of the government to a peacetime basis.

In a letter to Budget Director Harold D. Smith, the president asked him to re-examine the programs, organization and staffing of government agencies and submit at the earliest possible date recommendations for adjusting them from "the needs of war to the needs of peace."

Rejoinder To Attacks
Though the letter made no reference to political issues, it was by implication a White House rejoinder to the attacks by Republican Candidate Thomas E. Dewey. In recent campaign speeches, Dewey has referred to the administration as "the most wasteful, extravagant and incompetent administration in the history of the nation."

The president based his action on "our success on the battle fronts all over the world." This success, he said, makes possible a downward adjustment of the "great expansion of government activities" required by total war.

He told Smith that the actual liquidation of government agencies cannot begin today but "the plans should be made ready." He urged: "Upon the termination of hostilities, we must proceed with equal vigor to liquidate war agencies and reconvert the government to peace. Some steps along these lines may be taken when the fighting ends in Europe. The transition from war to peace should be carried forward rapidly, but with a minimum of disorder and disruption. Only careful planning can achieve this goal."

Plans Directed
It was clearly indicated that some functions of present war agencies will be carried on by old-line government bureaus after the agencies have been liquidated. The president specifically directed Smith to lay plans for:

1.—The liquidation of war agencies and the reassignment of such permanent or continuing functions as they possess.

2.—The reduction of government personnel due to a peace footing.

3.—The simplification and adaptation of the administrative structure to peacetime requirements.

Though most of this liquidation, the president said, will have to wait "until the Japs have surrendered," he suggested that some adjustment should be made immediately upon the termination of the war in Europe.

The principal agencies established wartime activity are:

Foreign Economic Administration, National War Labor Board, Office of Civilian Defense, Office of Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, Office of Defense Transportation, War Manpower Commission, including selective service system, War Production Board, Smaller War Plants Corporation, War Relocation Authority, War Shipping Administration, Office of Censorship, Office of Price Administration and the Petroleum Administration for War.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

mind of the radical crack-pots swarming in New Deal agencies in Washington. Several hundred manufacturers in this country have spent years of research and millions of dollars in money to bring their products to a point where they command public confidence.

They have invested millions of dollars in advertising to establish the good repute of these products. To justify all these outlays they have been compelled to maintain the highest standards of integrity in producing and marketing their output. The result is that there are scores of trade-marks and labels in mere dollars and cents. They are not only an asset to the owner, but a unifying protection to the consumer. It is this pride of the producer in his product, this faith of the consumer in names and labels, that has made possible the great enterprises that use the products of fields and forests and mines and furnish the bulk of American employment.

To permit the demolition of this vast industrial structure and take away all production from the consumer would be a disaster of the first magnitude.

Revival at this time of a plot, squelched by legislation a year ago, suggests that Congress should uncover and expose the communistic influence in the OPA and the government in general which is behind the conspiracy.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

until the rest of the family have finished their meal. Then be sure to make your word good always.

Leaving for School

On each school morning call her about 15 minutes earlier than has been your custom. Ascertain the minute she must be ready to leave for school in order to arrive there on time. Make clear to her that if she is not ready to leave for school on time she will remain home that day (or until noon if she seems best) and sit in a chair doing nothing, except without any amusement, all that time, with a short intermission at the end of each 50 minutes.

Also make clear to her when she must be in bed with the lights off, each night, and that for a single minute late she will have to sit up in your presence without amusement for exactly one hour. Repeat the same penalty in all these instances without fail.

When in other situations she proves prompt, heartily approve her and try to make her feel she is a worthy member of the family. If after following the foregoing program a few weeks you see no improvement you had better consult a physician. In case he finds no physical causes, next consult a psychologist at your nearest college or university.

HOW MUCH IS ENOUGH

Some people seem to have trouble in estimating how much food their children should have.

If baby is bottle fed, they decide on a bottle of a certain size. If baby does not empty the bottle they try to make him take it all. If he wants more than one bottle they do not give it to him.

Baby is the only one who knows when he is hungry. He is the only one who knows when he has enough.

His appetite varies at different times. Sometimes he does not want very much. Other times he wants to stuff himself.

Perhaps it is well to let baby decide pretty much as to the quantity he needs.

This holds good for older children too. It seems pretty tough for Dad to eat all he wants but to shut Bennie off when he is still hungry.

Bennie needs more food in proportion to his size than Dad does.

PIN-WORMS
At Last—
A Real Treatment!

You may not realize how many of your neighbors—grown-ups as well as children—have pin-worms. It is based on a special drug, known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablets developed by Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicine. P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special, gentle way to destroy Pin-Worms.

It is very easy to "catch" this nasty infection, and the tiny creatures can cause real distress. So watch for the signs that may mean Pin-Worms: itching seat, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, get a box of P-W right away and follow the simple directions carefully.

P-W means Pin-Worm relief!

Highway Safety In Maintenance Work Is Stressed

Employees Of Lawrence County
Highway Division Hear Safety
Address Monday

Safety in highway maintenance work, always important in the Pennsylvania highway system, was stressed even more than usual Monday afternoon when Ray F. Smock, assistant secretary of highways, addressed the employees of the Lawrence county division. The meeting was held in the state highway building on the Wilmington road between 4 and 5 o'clock with Superintendent Edwin O. Reed in charge.

"Pennsylvania's record of safety in highway maintenance has been increasingly efficient," said Mr. Smock. "From $3.60 per $1000 for workmen's compensation insurance, the rate has dropped to .90 per thousand, which is a reduction of 75 per cent."

Employees Older
"Today we are faced with a different situation upon the highways than we have ever been. Most of our younger men have gone to war and have been replaced by older men some of them at the age where they would be justified in just resting. But they want to aid in the war work and they have come into the highway department."

"The older men are doing a fine job, not quite as fast as the youngsters perhaps, but a fine job nevertheless. But age takes its toll, and eyes are not quite as keen, ears are not as sharp, reflexes are not as fast and for that reason all of us must be more than ordinarily careful to avoid accidents."

"To the motorists of Lawrence county and the state I would like to urge more care in driving. Remember, that over the brow of the hill you are climbing, there may be an old man with a wheelbarrow, a highway worker who is doing his bit for the war as well as his son who is at the front. He may not be able to get out of danger as fast as the younger man and it is up to the motorist to exercise more care."

The meeting was attended by practically every highway employee of the state highway department in Lawrence county.

Tells Of Scene In Holland As Allies Arrive

By ALAN WOOD
Representing the Combined Allied Press
Distributed by International News Service

SOMEWHERE IN HOLLAND, Sept. 19.—The field is littered with clatters like broken toys.

Then come the parachutists, dropping in the nearby field—hundreds of them. I mean literally hundreds of them, filling the sky simultaneously, the parachutes filling out like many colored flowers in the sky, some blue, some red, some yellow.

It seemed that nearly all dropped down safely. Of those we watched we only saw two streamers and two parachutes caught in the trees.

Once something dropped dead straight from a plane to the ground at our feet, and we all had a moment of sickening horror. Then we realized that it was only a kitbag of equipment and we all picked ourselves up.

Near by, strangely enough, is a lunatic asylum and one of the nurses has come to greet us. She kept on saying "How do you do" over and over again. The words of English she had been ready to say for the last four years.

Civilians Shake Hands

There are tears in her eyes. More civilians now are coming up, most of them dumb and tongue-tied with no other language than their own except German to talk. They just insist on shaking hands with everyone.

They ask us whether we came here over Belgium. The Germans have told them nothing about Belgium now being in our hands.

One of them in pajamas and a sweater was enjoying a Sunday afternoon picnic in the wood when we interrupted him.

One member of the Dutch resistance movement is very happy. He has been given charge of the first German prisoners our patrols have taken and is ordering them about in German with great gusto.

We still do not know where the Germans are and whether they know exactly where we are.

The Dutch say that lots of them were killed when the R. A. F. bombed a nearby town, and the rest of them disappeared on bicycles. This information was provided in dumb show by representing a Nazi theoretically peddling, perspiring away.

Anti-aircraft was missing in the many miles of enemy occupied country we flew over.

There was no hostile note all the way across the coast from the sunny North Sea as we passed like a cloud of insects on over flooded country, the red roofed houses waist deep in water and then the field of unflooded Holland proper.

Yanks Throw Five Artillery Shells To One By Germans

Tregaskis Tells Of Artillery Battle
Around Breakthrough On Siegfried Line

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
U.S. Staff Correspondent

WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON THE AACHEN FRONT, Sept. 19.—Now that Germany's effort to seal up the allied break through the Siegfried line around Aachen is a thing of the past, it can be told that the enemy threw in the heaviest concentration of artillery yet encountered in this campaign.

But American guns still were able to throw five shells at the Nazis for every German one.

Repulsing a counter-attack launched by a fresh German division composed mostly of veterans from the Russian front, the Americans fired 200 tons of ammunition in one day, employing all types of field pieces from 77-millimeter anti-tank guns to 240-millimeter howitzers.

Lightning fighter-bombers added to the misery heaped on the Germans, with the result that an estimated 25 per cent casualties were inflicted upon the enemy division.

Now that the threat of counter-attack in this vital sector has abated, American troops are pouring in to reinforce the breakthrough area.

It is estimated that because of American preponderance of firepower, German casualties were about 10 to every one of ours. That is a record word praise, since this Nazi division was re-equipped and well trained—probably one of the best that has been encountered since the collapse of the Seine river line.

In other sectors near the Siegfried line breakthrough area, American armor now is pushing on against stubborn resistance around Stolberg.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—
Now her Backache is better
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Rationing of tea and coffee, which limited individuals to two ounces of tea or eight ounces of coffee per week, ended at 12:01 a. m. No changes in the sugar ration of eight ounces per person per week is expected before the end of the year.

NEW CASTLE'S HOME PLANNER'S CLUB

Many applications for Membership have been received and the names of all members have been placed on our special mailing list. Each month they receive a different picture and floor plan of the House-of-the-Month. In addition regular meetings will be held at which members will hear experts discuss new developments in home construction and design.

If you are planning to build a home after the war (and a recent survey by the Office of Civilian Requirements indicated that 71% of the families surveyed were saving for the specific purpose of purchasing a home) then we suggest that you begin to plan and save for it now through membership in New Castle's Home Planners' Club.

The current House-of-the-Month (pictured above) is entirely different than the usual house. Primarily, it is for a hillside lot, and because of that, it makes an interesting and unusual floor plan on three different floor levels. Another unique feature is the dead level roof which is attaining great popularity, however, a low pitched roof might be substituted for those who prefer a more conventional type of home.

Complete blueprints and specifications are now on display in the offices of the First Federal Savings and Loan and you are invited to stop in and study them at your leisure.

You Have Share In Paper Drive Here Saturday

Sticking your nose into your neighbor's business isn't recommended ordinarily as a way to make friends and influence people, but now and again there is a reason for it. The reason for such nose-poking is here this week, and it concerns the waste paper collection which will be held Saturday, Sept. 23.

Ask your neighbor if he has his waste paper ready. Ask him if he has it segregated into bundles of newspapers, magazines and cardboard. Ask him if he has it banded securely into bundles of not more than 15 pounds, and are they tied securely. You can ask him these questions because it is probable he is going to ask you, so you will be even.

Township Plans
Cecil F. Suber, pre-collection chairman, said today that plans had been perfected in Neshaunook, Shenango and Union townships to have the school children take the waste paper to the school buildings, where on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 23, between one and two o'clock, trucks will call for it. This arrangement is for the townships only; the bundles in the city should be on the curbs before eight o'clock in the morning.

All net proceeds from this paper sale go to the Mayor's recreation fund. The collection should amount to 75 tons, at the very least. It really should go to 150 tons, for the paper is here, lying in attics, cellars, garages and in living rooms.
Old paper is a dust collector in the home. In a bundle on the curb it is an important war material. Let's get out the paper on Saturday and turn in a real collection.

Dentists Plan Honor To Doctor Boyle Wednesday

Dean Of Dental Profession In Lawrence County Will Be Honored By District Dentists

Dentists of the Ninth District, composed of five Northwestern Pennsylvania counties, will honor Dr. Lee E. Boyle, dean of the dental profession in Lawrence county, at the Lake Erie Country Club, Erie, Pa., on Wednesday. The 50th anniversary of Dr. Boyle's advent into the profession will be celebrated on this occasion.

Dr. Boyle began his dental career by serving the three-year apprenticeship, required when he entered dentistry, with the late Dr. W. E. Jackson of this city. He afterwards graduated from the Pennsylvania school of Dentistry at Philadelphia on March 6, 1895. He began his practice on Washington street where his office was located for a period of seven years, following which he moved to North street, where he has been located for the past 43 years.

Reverberations To Beverly Hills Party Are Many

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Reverberations still echoed today from that upper crust Beverly Hills party last Saturday night at which Stephen Crane, former husband of Lana Turner, and Turhan Bey, Turkish actor, were the main eventers.

Socialite Mrs. Jane Hamilton Hollingsworth, formerly of Baltimore and Washington, D. C., disclosed she was divorcing her husband, William Irving Hollingsworth, II, as the result of an estrangement brought to a head by a quarrel at the gathering.

Her action boosted the big social event's score to two fist fights and the separation of two couples.

The fights were between Crane and Bey and Johnny Meyer, actor's agent, and Ray Stack, one of the 200 guests.

The other couple to separate, besides the Hollingsworths, were Susan Hayward and Jess Barker, both of the screen. In both instances the husbands wanted to leave before the wives did and were so insistent that it led to words.

Barker drove home without his wife, for a joke he said, but she didn't take it that way. Arriving home some time later, hopping mad, she packed her things and moved out.

Barker said he hoped there wouldn't be a divorce, but Miss Hayward indicated that there would. They were married less than two months ago.

The Hollingsworth separation ended a six-year marriage.

Marriage License Probe At Wellsburg May Be Launched

WELLSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 19.—A special term of the Brooke county circuit court will convene at Wellsburg tomorrow to probe an alleged marriage license racket.

Judge J. P. O'Brien said he would call a special grand jury if there appears to be sufficient evidence of the alleged racket which has drawn the censure of Pennsylvania and other adjoining states.

In some instances, it was claimed, marriage license were issued without waiting for the three-day delay called for under state law.

IMPORTANT

... If you plan to move

If you now have a telephone and are planning to move, we suggest that you find out first if we can provide service at your new location.

The reason we urge this is because there is a shortage of telephone equipment. The telephone industry's manufacturing capacity has had to be devoted almost exclusively to producing electronic and telephone equipment for our armed forces. As a result, it is not always possible to provide telephone service when you move from one location to another. So we repeat:

Please call our Business Office to find out the telephone situation in your new locality before you complete your moving plans.

Subinsky, who is chairman of the mine committee at the Republic Steel corporation's Indiana plant, said he made some remarks in favor of autonomy and President Roosevelt, and that directly thereafter he was beaten up by three men in a hotel room.

A special meeting of Subinsky's local 3715, was held and a telegram of protest was sent to Lewis. Subinsky has been ordered to a hospital for X-rays.

Youngstown East Expects To Win

New Castle Starts Preparing For Invasion Of East High Friday

OHIO SCHOOL HAS POWERHOUSE ELEVEN

Youngstown East High with a powerhouse 1944 football team comes to New Castle's Taggart stadium this coming Friday night with the express purpose of handing New Castle a stunning defeat. The kickoff at 8:15 o'clock will find several thousand fans in the stands to see the classic.

Opening against Ursuline High last Saturday night at Raven High Field, Coach Dick Barrett put his charges through the entire game without throwing a pass, he didn't care let the opponents know anything about his passing attack, since he didn't need it against Ursuline. East High had Al Bodine and Art Weber, a couple of husky backs, slashing the line for scores, using nothing but straight football.

New Castle High school football team will be ready Friday night for a grueling contest. "I saw East play last Saturday and can say that I have never seen a finer looking high school team anywhere. We expect to play our best against the Ohioans but frankly I don't expect to win this one," Bridenbaugh said today.

East has simply got too many guns, literally speaking, for us, and any team that runs up 258 yards from rushing against that good big Ursuline team must have something, wouldn't you think?" Bridenbaugh concluded.

East Has Vet Team

East has a seasoned team of bigger and more experienced boys than New Castle, and should win Friday night as they please. They licked Ursuline 32 to 6 in much the manner they pleased. East has not defeated New Castle since 1937, when they turned the trick 7 to 0, but this looks like East's big year. Last year the New Castle and East boys battled through a 0-0 tie game.

New Castle resumed training at stadium Monday afternoon. It's a tough week ahead for the young gridgers and a lot of hard work is on the books. Wimer and Benigas are still on the injured list along with Billy Andrews who was the victim of a hard tackle last Friday night.

Starting Time Of Games On Friday

There will be five high school football games in Lawrence county this coming Friday. All of the high school teams are booked for home battles. Two are night games, the rest day affairs.

Following is the starting time of the games:

Night Games
Youngstown East at New Castle, Taggart stadium, 8:15 p. m.
Rochester at Ellwood City, Lincoln field, 8:15 p. m.

Afternoon Games
Zellenople at Shenango High, East New Castle, 2:15 p. m.
Poland, O., High at Union High, Scotland Lane field, 2:30 p. m.
Evans City High at Bessemer, Bessemer field, 3 p. m.

Church Golfing Title At Stake

First Presbyterians And Highland Battle For Title At Castle Hills

New Castle Church Golf league championship play will start at the Castle Hills course at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, with the First Presbyterians battling the Highland U. P. team. The First Presbyterians won the first half championship and the Highland won the second half championship. Both have fine teams and a great play-off match is looked for.

Highland is captained by John Cartwright and has the following star golfers available for play: Mayor John Haven, Arthur W. Meek, Eddie Long, Ed. Miller, Bruce Miller, Ralph Davis, Glenn McCracken, W. I. Clark, R. L. Wallace, John Offutt and Captain Cartwright.

The Presbyterians, captained by Earl "Spuzer" Jarrett, will have the following star golfers available for the match: William Nunn, H. C. Hornberger, Atty. Dick Dana, Dave Aston, Morgan Jones, Sr., Mont McGill and C. Roy Shira.

Each team will have six men and there is a possibility of a tie, each winning three points. Quite a large gallery will no doubt follow the match tomorrow night.

Crucial Softball Game Wednesday

Marshall Field Wednesday evening at 5:45 o'clock will be the scene of a crucial softball battle that brings the Johnsons and the I. A. Machinists together in the final game of the second half schedule, with the second half title at stake.

If the Bronzes win, the Industrial League championship play will be tucked up in the Bronze plant on South Mill street, and if the I. A. Machinists win the two teams will start a 5-game championship series. The Bronzes won the first-half without losing a game.

Manager Kiski Marino will probably start his ace Bob Pascarella, and hopes to upset the Machinists who will use their star Norman "Cannonball" Bishara.

Shaughnessy Turns Down Redskin Offer

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Pitt's football mentor, Clark D. Shaughnessy, famed proponent of the T-formation, turned down an offer of $25,000 a year to coach the Washington Redskins, pro grid team, it was disclosed today.

The offer came from George Preston Foster, owner of the Capital City club, who reported:

"I offered Shaughnessy $25,000 a year for five years last March on the Pacific coast. He turned down the offer and told me he had no ambitions to coach a pro team. He said he likes his position at Pitt better than any he has ever held and hopes to be able to give the Panthers a winner."

20 Years Ago Today: Detroit defeated New York, 6 to 5, dropping the Yanks to second as Washington won, 15 to 9, over St. Louis.

Cards Slump Does Not Worry Billy

Manager Southworth More Concerned About St. Louis Browns And Tigers As Opponents

By DAVID J. WALSH

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Manager Billy Southworth, whose somewhat skittish ball team had lost two 2-1 games here only a few hours before (which made 15 lost in the last 20 played), was not precisely exuding charm as he left for the east Sunday night. Nor was he all borne down by the weight of his woes, as indeed he shouldn't be.

After all, the St. Louis Cardinals are, in the lingo of the links, dormie 13 . . . meaning they're 13 games ahead with 13 left to play. In fact, they can even "lose into" as you might and can say, the National league pennant maybe tomorrow, the next day, any time.

Cards In Slump

Mr. Southworth didn't seem particularly interested in that or in the fact that his Cardinals are in a slump, beyond admitting that they are. They'll come out of it, he says, when Stan Musial, the league hitting champion, and Whitey Kurowski return to the lineup this week.

Wouldn't it be possible for a slump like that (since the above pair had been a part of it in its earlier stages) to last through the world series?

Mr. Southworth was just a little amused by that. And when he said, "No," very definitely and shortly, there was left very little doubt on one point. You at least believed that he believed himself. Yes, and perhaps to a degree where he didn't give too much of a dam whether he played the Tigers, Browns or Yankees. Like many another, he probably felt that the Yanks had left their fight, so to say, in the semi-windup back there with the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday.

For he talks mostly of the Browns and Tigers.

Tigers Dangerous

"The Browns," said he in his gravelly courteous way, "have made a great fight and a lot of us feel sort of sentimental interest in them maybe winning an American league pennant for the first time. But have they enough pitching to sustain the day-to-day performance on which an all-St. Louis series would be conducted?"

The Tigers look more dangerous now that they've won a couple without Trout and Newhouse. Both should be well rested for the Yankee series, and ready. Meanwhile, the two pitchers who won that double header with the Indians (i. e., Overmire and Gentry) are coming through at just the right time, aren't they?

"I haven't had time to look, but tell me: Is it true that one of them had a no-hitter up to the ninth?"

The interview was getting out of hand, taking an unexpected turn. The wrong guy was asking the questions.

FITZSIMMONS SIGNS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Freddie Fitzsimmons was signed today to manage the Phillies in 1945, according to an announcement by Herb Pennock, the Quaker City club's general manager.

Fitzsimmons, a pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers at the beginning of the 1943 season, became the new Blue Jay pilot on July 28, 1943.

Cozy Corners To Play St. Michael

Warm-Up Game For Title Contest With St. Monica Next Sunday Planned Wednesday Night

Cozy Corners, champions of the American Legion Junior League, will play St. Michael of the Lawrence County Catholic League, at George Washington Field, Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock.

This game will be a warm-up for the contest scheduled for next Sunday with the St. Monica team, champions of the Catholic League.

Lacko will be on the mound for St. Michael, with Dzemian behind the plate, while Manager W. L. Aishouse is planning to send Ace Shriver to the mound for Cozy Corners, with Fireman Joe Ziegler doing the receiving.

Cozy Corners hold a season record of 28 victories against four defeats, and hope to add to this record in the coming games.

Williams-Dawson Battle Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Freddie Dawson, versatile Chicago lightweight, today appeared a good bet to snap the Williams' 12-bout winning streak tonight when he tangles with the Trenton triphammer in the 10-round feature contest at the Philadelphia indoor arena.

Dawson, with 26 successive victories under his belt, was signed to meet Williams by popular request of Quaker City fans. In several Garden appearances, the chunky Windy City lightweight earned the respect of Gotham fans. The Chicagoan predicted he will knockout Williams in a late round.

Williams, slated to enter the Army late this month, is in top shape for the match, fresh from his recent verdict over Sammy Angott, former lightweight boss.

Bear's Feet Bare In Wrestling Match

GREENVILLE, Pa., Sept. 19.—(INS)—Pvt. Mel Peter of Camp Reynolds looks variety in his wrestling opponents, and claims that men often provide dull competition.

In his professional days before being inducted into the army, Peter appeared in mat bouts with bears and kangaroos.

"No more bears, though," said Peter. "One I wrestled hung gloves on his front paws, but his hind feet were uncovered, and I still have bear tracks up and down my spine."

Year Ago Today: Detroit Lions won over the St. Louis Cards 35 to 17, as the pro season opened in Detroit before 23,408 fans. Harry Hopp, a back, scored three times.

Tigers-Yankees Commence Series

Series Starting Today In Detroit May Decide American League Pennant

By JOHN CASHMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The Detroit Tigers face off against the stumbling New York Yankees today in the first of a three-game series which may all but decide the outcome of the blistering 1944 American League pennant race. The Yankees very definitely are on the short end of the odds.

In order to regain the lead in the Detroit series, the Yanks would have to stage one of the most dramatic stunts ever seen in baseball, for everything is against them. Their road record is the most significant harbinger of the lot in store for the Yanks. Much in the manner of the 1908 Yankees, who left home in first place and returned in the second division, the Yankees won five of 13 games in their first road trip this year and seven of 17 contests on their second. That's 400

Yankees Reeling

Next, the Yanks still are reeling under the impact of three games lost at home to the Philadelphia Athletics. New York fans were crowding about the easy touch the Yanks had in the A's, who were expected to do nothing but build up a more comfortable lead for the McCarty-men. Notable in that last home-series loss was the unexpected failure of Smoot Starnes, who heretofore had been doing Yeoman work.

The Tigers, on the other hand, have behind them the precedent set in 1908 and 1940; in both those seasons there was a riotous scramble for the flag, with Detroit grabbing both pennants in a last-second surge similar (dangerously similar) to the one they are staging now. The Tigers of 1944, guided by cagey Steve O'Neill, were in seventh place, July 13 and now are selected by rival managers as the team to beat.

Tigers Have Edge

What is of paramount importance is the fact that O'Neill won two crucial games Sunday without his aces, Dizzy Trout and Hal Newhouse. Now Steve holds the ace of spades, lightning fingers over the heads of the Yankees like a Damoclean sword and can expect more good stuff from Sunday's winning hurlers, Rufe Gentry and Stubby Overmire.

McCarthy will start Hank Borowy against the Tigers today, and most probably will follow up with Mel Queen for the second game and Walter (Hot Dog) Dubiel for the third.

In yesterday's single game of the afternoon, the Boston Braves edged out the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6 to 5 in ten innings.

10 Years Ago Today: Paul Waner of the Pirates got his 200th hit of the season.

JOHNNY SOHO, manager of the Shenango Pottery baseball club is persistent. In fact, John is always alert and ready to fight for what he believes right—and in two particular situations, for what he suspects is right. Be that as it may, John is upon his toes and rarin' because, if he can inveigle the City Baseball commission into giving a decision relative to two games, his outfit may deadlock West Pittsburgh for fourth place in the circuit, a possible one game play-off with Blackie Fundoots' outfit, and if Shenango should win, become one of the four teams to play for the championship of the City League.

Here's the situation:
Shenango Pottery some time ago trekked to Mahoningtown to play the P. R. R. Shops.
Shenango could only field eight players, hence they borrowed a player from the P. R. R.

Both P. R. R. and Shenango agreed that, regardless which team won the game would stand as played.

This was not in keeping with league rules according to our informant and the game was chalked on Shenango's red side of the schedule. However, John is still hopeful, hence his massive to the commission.

No. 2 situation is somewhat similar, excepting the shoe fits West Pittsburgh's foot, the main point being the element of time.
It appears Blackie Fundoots couldn't field a team at 3 o'clock. He slid home, slid into a uniform and at 3:20, his team and he were on the field.

Johnny Soho believes this game should be awarded to the Shenango because the rules call for afternoon games to start at 2:45 p. m. and no later than 3 o'clock.

At first Manager Fundoots is asserted to have adopted "I don't care attitude" but inasmuch as his team has a chance to get in the Shaughnessy play-off he has changed his attitude.

The decision, if the commission, should interest itself tonight, may have a sharp bearing on fourth place. Both Shenango and West Pittsburgh have games to play off. At this date, one won game is important.

One commissioner today stated that he intends to avidly scan the league rules. "I'm willing to meet but if the league rules cover the situation I don't see why I should mix in something rules already cover."

One cannot blame Johnny Soho for fighting for whatever he can get. Neither can one throw cold water on Blackie Fundoots' efforts to keep something which he considers already won.

Delving further into the City Baseball League plot we discover the much-reinforced and one might add, confident I. A. M. have hopes of deadlocking the lead with Mike Duffey's cocky Johnsons' Bronze outfit.

Johnsons' Bronze has won 17 and lost four games. The I. A. M. have won 15 and lost four with two possible victories coming up via the P. R. R. Should the I. A. M. win, the lead will be deadlocked.

The Loyals Moose apparently will take third place and what happens or doesn't happen tonight relative to Shenango Pottery, the P. R. R. and West Pittsburgh will determine "Who's Who" relative to fourth place.

Pvt. Charlie Arkett, most seasoned amateur who fought here, writes from Camp Pendleton, Calif. . . . Reports he hasn't been able to locate Platoon Sergeant Johnny Dean. . . . Arkett reports having had only one fight since he was here on furlough because he was transferred several times. . . . Frank Leahy is a lieutenant in the U. S. Naval Reserve and is in the South Pacific. . . . Gordon Appleby, a former Massillon, O. player has been selected as last year's most valuable player on Ohio State U. . . . Undeclared boxing champion at North Carolina U. Walter K. O. Kraus is bidding for the center job. He scored four kayoes in four minutes last winter, reports assert.

Redskins Defeat Pitt-Cards 3 To 0

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19.—(INS)—Washington's Redskins hung another scalp on their belts today—the fourth this season—but only after the Pitt-Cards fought the visitors to a standstill on the line and forced them to gain their lone three points through a 15-yard field goal by Joe Aguirre in the third quarter. The local lads scored a near major upset in the opening game of the season here by concentrating on the activities of Sammy Baugh and preventing him from effectively playing his role as quarterback under the center in the T-formation. Nevertheless, the former Texas Christian star threw all but one of Washington's 35 aerials, completing 17 for a gain of 174 yards.

MARKET IS ACTIVE FOLLOWING DULL AND NARROW OPENING EARLY TODAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(INS)—The stock market turned strong and active in the late forenoon today after a dull and narrow opening. Traders stepped in the bidding area for a fairly broad list of issues, pushing quotations more than a point higher.

Steel and motors led the rally. Aviation, rails and oils scored fractional gains.

Chrysler spurred a point to above 90. At 6:11, Bethlehem Steel was up 1 1/8. U. S. Rubber was out front with a gain of 1 1/2, around the noon hour. Douglas Aircraft, down a half at the opening, recovered the loss, Boeing and Lockheed aircraft were active and fractionally better.

Southern Pacific paced rails with a sizable fractional advance. Anaconda, Paramount Pictures, Commonwealth Edison, and Sears Roebuck made a point.

Small gains were recorded in secondary rail bonds. Cotton futures edged to higher levels. Grains were quiet and firms.

Republican County Campaign To Open With Cascade Park Meeting

CORN ROAST TO START PROGRAM

Lawrence county's opening of the fall campaign will be held in Cascade Park on Monday afternoon and evening, September 25, with Governor Edward Martin and Senator G. Harold Watkins, candidate for auditor-general as the speakers. County Chairman Roger W. Rowland announced today.

"The corn roast and picnic are for the citizens of the county," Chairman Rowland announced. "It's an old American way of getting folks together and this will just be that kind of an affair. Plenty of corn and sandwiches and coffee and a meeting to follow at which the issues of the present campaign will be discussed."

Edward D. Pritchard, Chairman Alderman and former sheriff, Edward D. Pritchard is the chairman of the affair with Chairman Rowland acting as the chairman of the day. Committee appointments will be announced later.

Opening the campaign with an old fashioned corn roast has been a custom in this county for a number of years. It has been found to be a good way of getting people together in an informal way.

The corn roast will start at 5 o'clock in the afternoon with the meeting scheduled to start at eight o'clock. The hours are named in order that mill, office and store workers may have an opportunity of enjoying a picnic and hearing the issues of the campaign discussed.

NEW OIL DEFIES COLD
SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND—(INS)—A new oil which keeps machine guns from jamming at temperatures down to 80 degrees below zero is now being used by the allied air forces. It was disclosed today. The oil, adopted by both American and British air forces after exhaustive tests, will pour freely at 70 degrees below zero.

BRIEF NEWS OVER STATE

CHESTER—September and October contain "the most fateful weeks in the history of America," according to Arthur P. Bretherick, Delaware county Republican committee chairman. "During that period our people must determine whether we are to march with a voice of government slavery on our necks or whether we are to move as free men."

SEWICKLEY—Police were on the lookout for a thief with an unusually clever technique. He reportedly made a practice of renting a room and when the opportunity presented itself completely ransacked the landlady's house.

BOOTHY—The Japanese flag that once flew proudly over Guam is now in the possession of the John Hickman family. The trophy was sent by John, Jr., a marine sergeant, whose only accompanying explanation was he was "fortunate to have it."

GREENSBURG—The city of Greensburg was mourning the loss of Thomas Duncan, one of its oldest citizens, who was at Washington during Lincoln's assassination. A boy during the Civil War, he could recall how his family hid their earnings, amounting to $100, in a hollow tree when rebels approached.

CHESTER—Mrs. Carl Vanier received notice from her husband, a seaboard diver, that apparel was en route to her which should be worn only after it had been "cleaned and fumigated." It turned out to be a Japanese naval uniform.

Danish Patriots Blow Up Plants

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(INS)—The German-controlled Copenhagen radio reported Monday that bomb blasts had wrecked important industrial plants in the Jutland cities of Aalborg and Aarhus.

The explosion at Aalborg, according to the broadcast, said the power station in the harbor had been completely destroyed.

At the Aarhus three explosions rocked the "Universal Factories" operated by O. S. Schmidt and started a fire that completely damaged the buildings. Danish patriots were blamed for the blasts. The FCC heard the broadcast.

Stamp Sale Leaders At Lincoln-Garfield Are Of 25 Countries

Largest Groups At Patriotic School Are Italian, American, Polish And Negro

Americanism has long been one of those words subject to an infinite variety of interpretations, from the traditional Cape Cod, first-family sort of thing, to the Lincoln-Garfield species.

According to a survey taken by the teachers, the Lincoln-Garfield student body at the South Side schools, which made the best record in the city buying war stamps and bonds last year, represents at least 25 nationalities.

Thirty per cent of these loyal young Americans were Italians; 18 per cent were Syrian; nine per cent were Polish; and 7.6 per cent were negro. Principal Lucien C. Black quoted from the survey. The whole list sounds like a roll call of the groups mixed up in the present conflict, but these children are definitely on one side.

There are Greeks and Russians, Jews and Germans, Welsh and English, Hungarians and Romanians. There are Finns, Croats, Armenians, French, Irish, Scotch-Irish, Dutch, Scotch, Ukrainians, Lithuanians and some others designated as "miscellaneous."

Even a number of Orientals have gone through the school's six grades, subject to the melting pot treatment of the public school system, Mr. Black said.

Brazilians Make Advance First Day In Italian Battle

By FRANK CONNIF (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE BRAZILIAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Italy, Sept. 19—The Brazilian advanced more than a mile Monday in their first day of battle on the Italian front, capturing one town.

The retreating enemy failed to halt the South Americans, who demonstrated aggressive abilities that earned the praise of Allied officers. They hold a portion of the western sector of the long Italian battlefield.

Every one from Gen. Mascarenhas to the lowliest private in the Brazilian contingent realized that the entry of their troops into active warfare marked a historic day for Brazil.

I talked with the general as he toured the front lines in a jeep inspecting developments. He was dust-caked and wore a trench coat and helmet.

Expressing himself as highly pleased with the progress of his troops on the first day, the commander said:

"The rapid advance of the Brazilian forces is helping to contribute to the liberation of northern Italy."

Fire Warden Urges Forest Precautions

Says 40,000 Acres Of Wood Destroyed By Fire In 1943 Fall 'Fire Season'

HARRISBURG, Sept. 19—(INS)—Pointing out that 40,000 acres of forests were devastated by fire in the fall of 1943, the Department of Forests and Waters today urged Pennsylvanians to be careful with outdoor fires during the so-called October "fire season."

"Everybody must be careful with fires regardless of who they are or what they may be," said George H. Wirt, chief fire warden.

"We had a long drought this summer," Wirt explained, "the recent rains hit most of the state but more rain will give us an even break this fall."

He pointed out that the "fall fire season" was dependent upon the weather and usually occurred from the middle of October to the last of November or mid-December.

He explained that while the large number of hunters in the woods during the game seasons "unquestionably add to our difficulties," the organized sportsmen usually were careful with fires.

Wirt said that 26,000 acres of land were devastated during the spring season this year, while only 15,000 burned during 1943.
